Miss Ivys Tea Room has a quilt of characters each with a story of adversity they find solace in a hot cup of tea within the warm atmosphere of a tea room operated by the proprietor Ms Julia Horne the beautiful Ms Horne also has a story born to Jamaican immigrants she strives to accomplish the American dream through feminism assimilation and love her daughter Victoria Horne a young corporate executive is living the American dream with resentment at the tea room Julia meets new and fascinating people the one thing Julia and Victoria never expected to find in the tea room is love enter Charles Blackman a former professional basketball player turned entrepreneur and Mason Green a famous Broadway and television actor each embrace the unexpected during turning points in their lives

A vivid recounting of a determined young Austrian girl's horrific experiences of family betrayals and of World War II one reads much of this account as one passes by a traffic accident peering through fingers intrigued but fearful of what comes next it's not an easy story the starkness is softened by her experiences of pure young love her faith and the heroes she's chosen to keep her going it is ultimately a life affirming narrative of this woman's life a narrative not just of survival but of hope and victory I dreamed of having a little flower a pet of my own a light in the room a toy to play with and never being locked up again bypassing daily news mother missed rules didn't know and didn't realize the danger in which we lived our mother was always very happy to help her Jewish friend Mrs Hackenberg run a good business in the secondhand store what they didn't know was that the Gestapo watched the smell of the horse manure cut off my breath I had to get out while I scrambled out of the box I hit both my toes a few more times finally I made it with my Sylvia as I walked pushing my carriage with my doll in it each step I took left blood behind on the sidewalk with tears on my hand I wrote on the wall of the prison in which I now knew for sure my mom was trapped I love you mom O dear God please let my dear mommy come home suddenly my life changed I wasn't even hungry anymore from now on my survival didn't matter I lived for the moment to be able to see and hear my love sing again everything I owned including myself I would have gladly given for my Serafin though I knew I could never call him my own

In the early 1880s a disastrous plant disease diminished the yields of the hitherto flourishing coffee plantation of Ceylon coincidentally world market conditions for coffee were becoming increasingly unfavourable the combination of these factors brought a swift end to coffee cultivation in the British crown colony and pushed the island into a severe economic crisis when Ceylon re-emerged from this crisis only a decade later its economy had been thoroughly transformed and now rested on the large scale cultivation of tea this book uses the unprecedented intensity and swiftness of this process to highlight the socioeconomic interconnections and dependencies in tropical export economies in the late nineteenth century and it shows how dramatically ceylonese society was affected by the economic transformation
